BIO - I AM MORE

My philosophy is that I am more than one title or job description. It means that I take pride in being a creative multitalent and mastering different kinds of skills. I have also worked in diverse work environments. Since 2017 I have worked as an entrepreneur building my own theatre and art company from nothing. This job has taught me more than any school or work combined.

I am a creative problem-solver and work well under stress. These two are the common factors between all my work experience.

I am driven to constantly improve my skills and broaden my set of tools. I love learning new things, which is shown in my broad education history.
